 -  Nightingale songs change with age
Frontiers in Zoology 2011, 8:29
Male nightingales have smaller song repertoires in their first year than older males, and overlap songs at higher rates as they age. This is suggested to be a communicative strategy to establish relationships with competing males and choosy females.
 -  Wildlands can help increase carbon stocks
Carbon Balance and Management 2011, 6:11
Vineyards that include adjoining wildlands can help to increase overall carbon stocks and species diversity. Current carbon policy lacks focus on carbon stocks compared to emissions and so providing incentives for ecosystem service provision could encourage this.
 -  Decline in TB cases due to economic recession?
BMC Public Health 2011, 11:846
