The greats of tomorrow are among us

Welcoming our leaders

O my beloved (founding) father
You saved us from the enemy
You drove the Greeks into the sea
You gave us light...

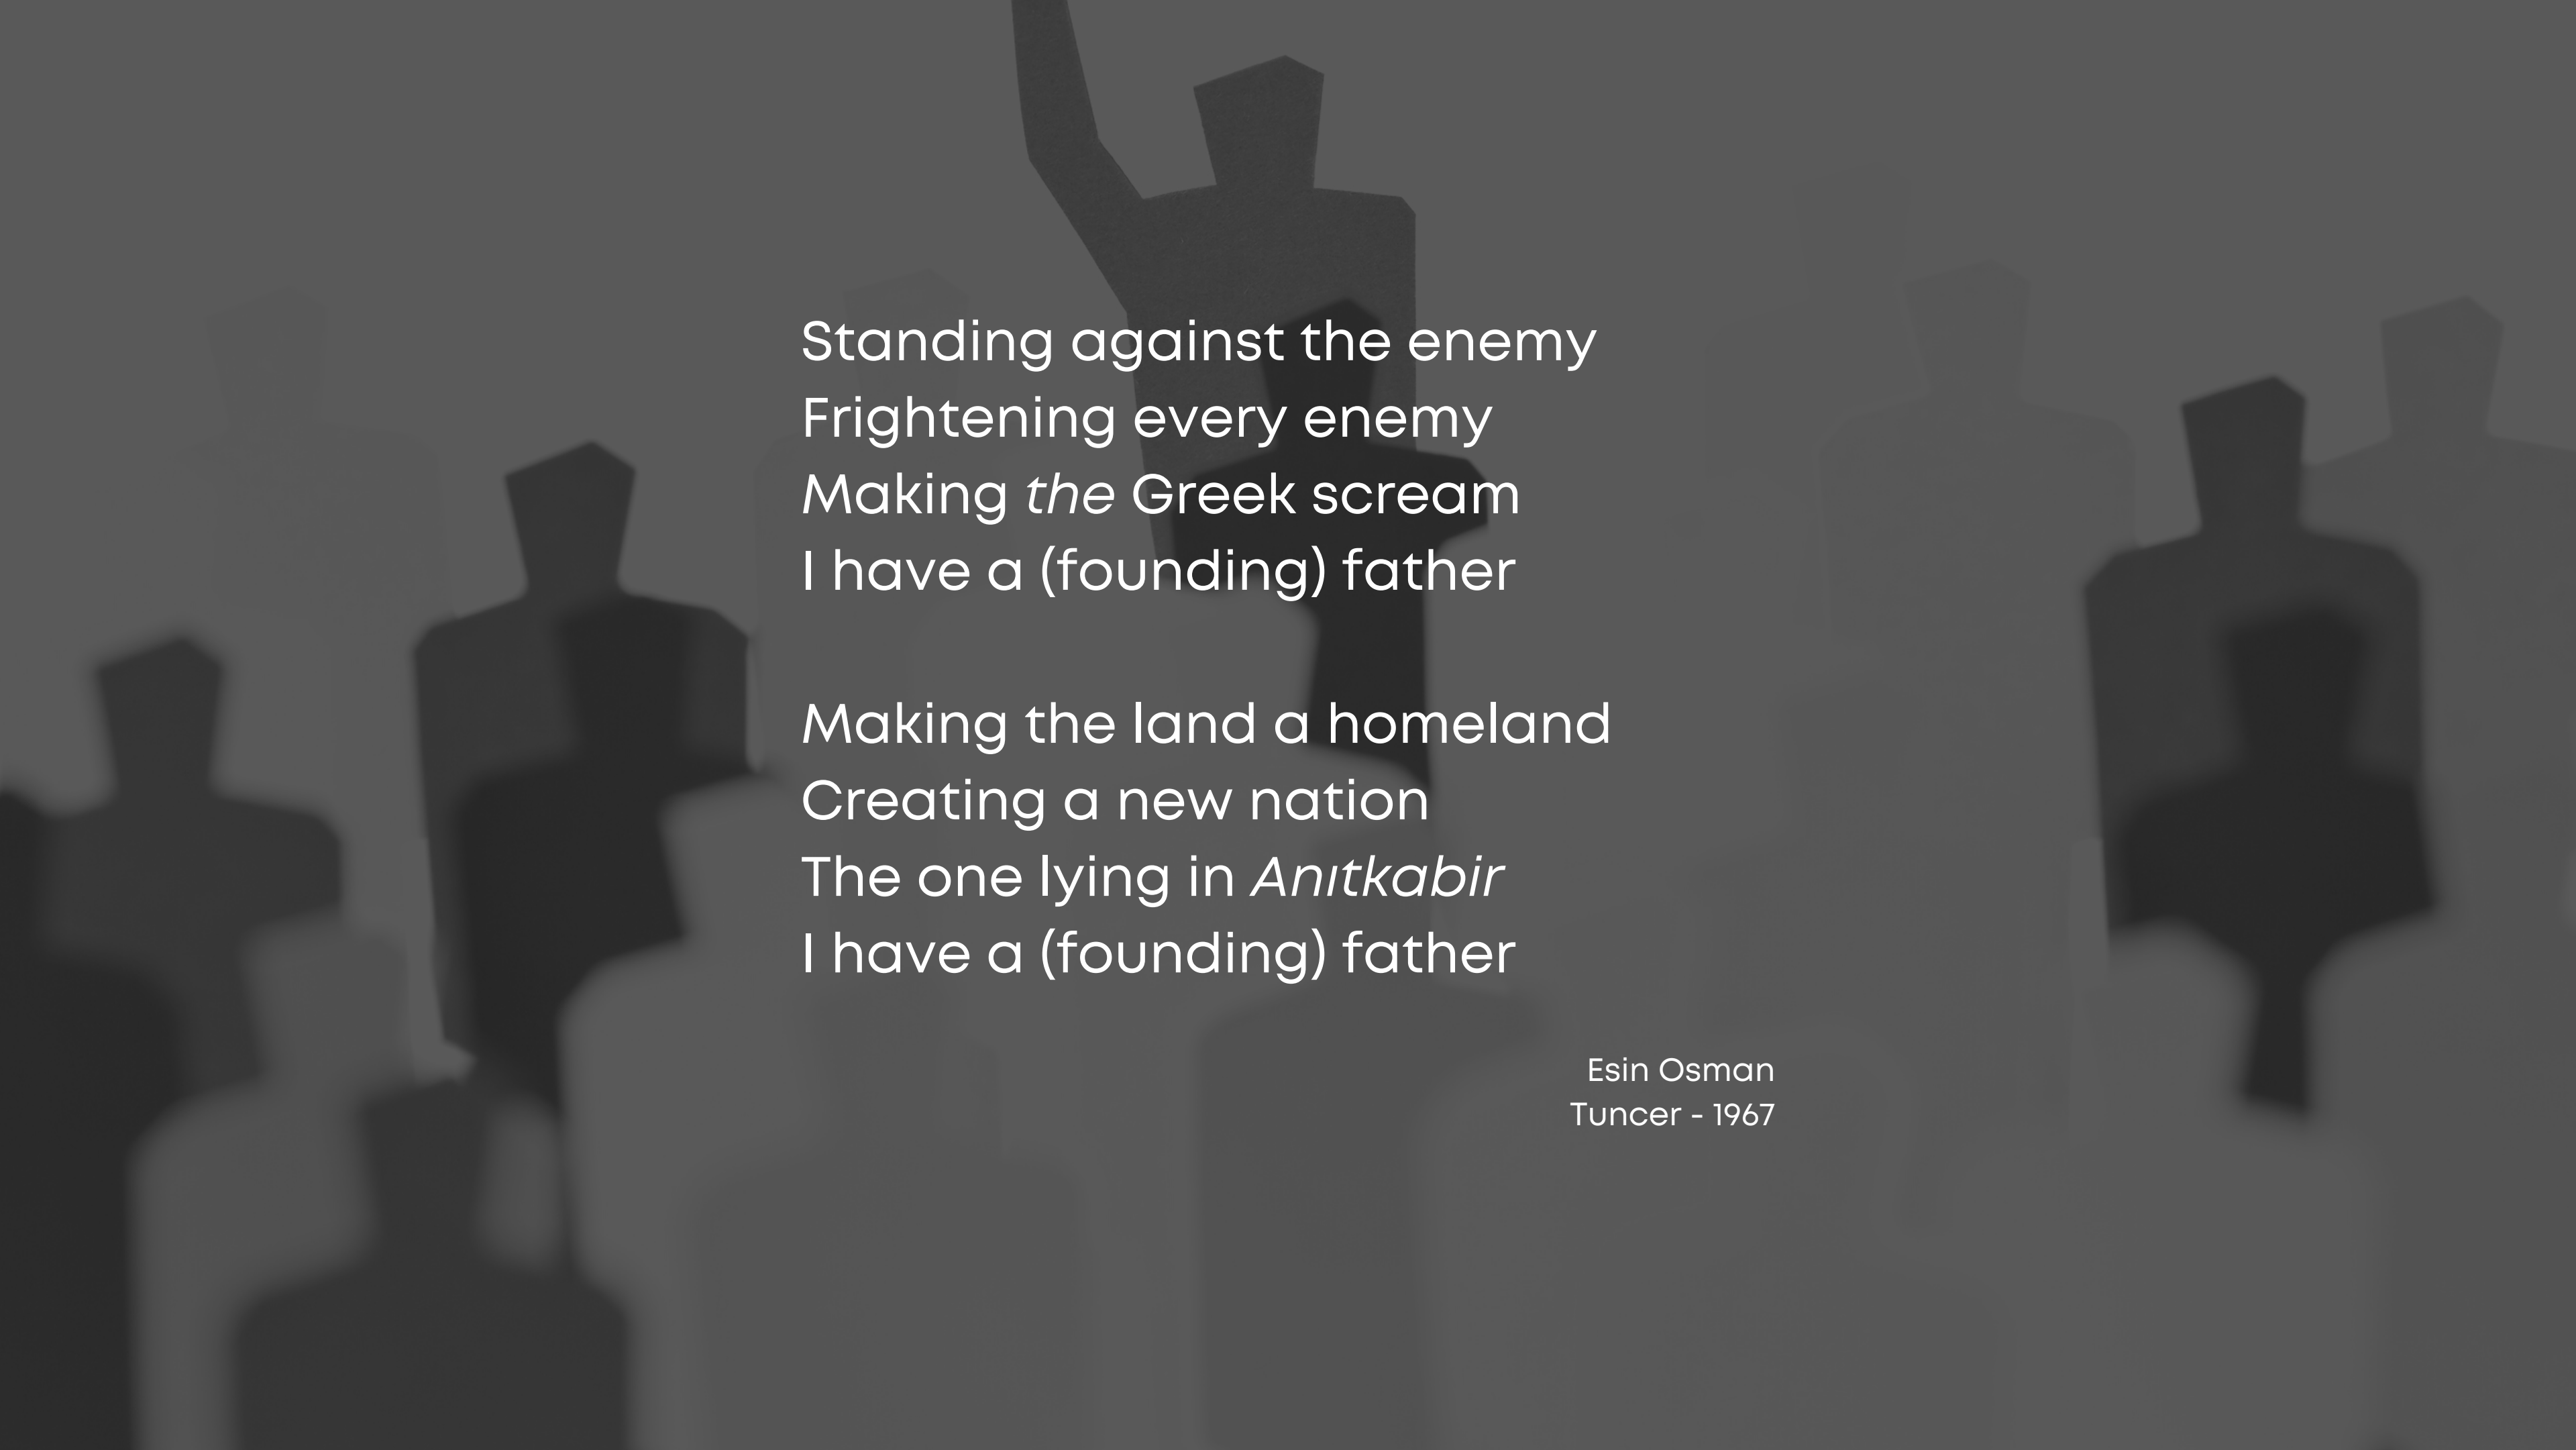

We will always remember you
We will follow in your footsteps

Today, November 10, 1966
I saw 32 million heads bowed and crying
I turned my eyes to the red flag
It's also halved, it doesn't wave

You are not dead, greatest human being
Your body left us, but
You are always in us
Sleep well on the Ankara ridges, my (founding) father

Standing against the enemy
Frightening every enemy
Making the Greek scream
I have a (founding) father

Making the land a homeland
Creating a new nation

I have a (founding) father

We are adding a glorious and proud page to the Turkish Cypriot history. We are establishing the Republic of Cyprus with the Greeks [sic] who are destined to live with us on this island and with whom we are about to establish a common administration. In this joint administration, we have elected Dr. Küçük, the struggling son of the Turkish Cypriots, as the Vice President of the Republic.

We are proud of this. Because we have once again proved our unity and solidarity and our faith in Dr. Küçük, who did not spare any effort for us.

We are proud of this because Dr. Küçük is our GENUINE PRESIDENT [sic] in the joint administration to be established.

Just as he has worked and succeeded in promoting our lost rights until now, we believe that from now on, with the help of our Motherland Turkey, he will work as necessary to raise us and to continue our existence as a free and honourable community on the island.

With this belief, with this confidence, we offer the congratulations of our magazine and our school to our esteemed elder Dr. Küçük and wish him success.
