

SUBSCRIPTION SERIES CONCERTS AND PROGRAMMES FOR PARENTS AND CHILDREN

THE CZECH PHILHARMONIC IN INSTALMENTS... OF AN ORCHESTRAL PUZZLE

A unique opportunity to get to know all the instruments that make up a symphony orchestra and to meet those who play them, with members of the Czech Philharmonic. A repeat of the popular series of six Saturday or Sunday morning concerts, this time in the Dvořák Hall of the Rudolfinum. Hosted by Petr Kadlec.

Duration: 60 minutes

Tickets: CZK 80 – CZK 200

Subscriptions: CZK 350 – CZK 900

Ticket purchases and reservations can be made online, through Czech Philharmonic Customer Services or at the Rudolfinum box office.

- 7
September
2014
10:30 a.m.
- Afflatus Quintet
Can the bassoon imitate a rumbling tummy? And the clarinet a peacock's cry? How are oboe reeds made? And can you get the sound of a horn out of a simple garden hose?
- 27
September
2014
10:30 a.m.
- The Czech Philharmonic Sextet
6 instruments, 12 hands, 24 strings.
Dvořák's Humoresque, Bach's Air
or Boccherini's Minuet.
- 6
December
2014
10:30 a.m.
- The Czech Philharmonic Low Brass
The trombones, the tuba, and even the bass trumpet or bass flugelhorn will play Renaissance music, Romantic pieces, and jazz. And there might even be a five-metre-long shepherd's longhorn...
- 4
January
2015
10:30 a.m.
- Percussionists of the Czech Philharmonic
BOOM! The majestic sound of the gong, the rattle of the drum, the tinkling of the triangle, and maybe even an oil barrel... Plus, the sound of the rain and the sea. The percussion instruments can conjure up all this for you!
- 26
April
2015
10:30 a.m.
- Jana Boušková and her harp
The harp wins the contest for the instrument with the most strings: 47 in total! Did you know that harpists also play with their feet because their instrument has seven pedals? (Maybe this makes them good drivers...) But could you play a harp with a ruler? Find out all this and more!
- 7
June
2015
10:30 a.m.
- The Orchestral Academy of the Czech Philharmonic with conductor Ondřej Vrabec
The big moment is here! Our exploration of various instruments reaches its grand finale. Now, how about waving a magic wand to bring them all together? With so many instruments involved, we need a conductor...