

Markéta: Hello everyone, I am Markéta Doubravová and I am your teacher for this semester.
This is my colleague Šárka Kadlecová.

Šárka: Hello everyone.

Markéta: She is also the head of the English section.
I hope that you will enjoy the course and that it will be helpful for you.

Markéta: Hi Šárka, nice to see you again. How are you today?

Šárka: I am fine, thank you. How are you?

Markéta: I am also fine, thanks.
Let's try to introduce ourselves for our students.

Markéta: Where are you from?

Šárka: I am from Prague.

Markéta: Wow, that's really interesting. And how about your parents. Are they also from Prague?

Šárka: Yes, they are. And how about you?

Markéta: Well, actually, I am from Stříbro. It is a very small town between Pilsen and German borders.

Šárka: That sounds lovely.
And what is this? Is it the textbook for this...the course?

Markéta: Yes, it is.

Šárka: And is it in Czech?

Markéta: Well, actually, it isn't, but I think it will be fine.

Šárka: I am not sure if it's good.

Markéta: Well, actually, I am going to translate everything. At least at the beginning. So I think it will be fine.

Šárka: Alright.
