

SmartWash

Everyone cares about their health and so do I. Washing your hands for example is very important especially during Covid-19 days. But have you ever thought about "washing" your phone or anything like this that you use almost every minute? At home, ^{at the} office, on your way to ^{the} job, during the time you spend in public transport and etc.

This crucial problem requires a solution. That's why I came up with idea ^{and} few days ago.

Imagine having some kind of case or box for your smart gadget which could easily and in a few seconds sanitize your device. Along with sanitizing your smartphone, it would keep your device away from unwanted damage. There are two versions of SmartWash so far. One with built-in battery and the second without it. The cleaning substance is stored in special replaceable capsule. Along with the cleaning substance, SmartWash uses ^a UV light for even more efficient sanitizing.

So what do you think of this device? Would you buy it or not? Write me your opinions in comments.

- good intro

- good description of device.

→ an additional if details

* its effect would be useful

- otherwise good language

example intro:.

"This device would allow . . . etc."

"It would lead to: . . ."

"It would result in . . ."

Thanks, p -
