

Wang, W. K.
CP2/2/2

The quarantine would be deadly boring without the heavy workload given to us from the teachers.

To be one of the best athletes in the world, one needs to be extremely competitive.

When we compare steam locomotives to electric ones, they are hopelessly inefficient.

There has been a massive increase in demand for surgical masks in the last few days.

Pablo Escobar was incredibly rich due to the drug trafficking.

- a) alternative
- b) cautious / cautious
- c) collapsible
- d) detestable
- e) honourable
- f) laborious
- g) loathsome
- h) hypocritical
- i) philosophical
- j) repulsive
- k) tenacious
- l) theatrical
- m) virtuous
- n) voluntary

→ repelling / repellent / repulsive (both acceptable) as adjectives

These days, people should be cautious when visiting public places.

I find philosophical books very difficult to read.

I admire everyone who does some voluntary job.

I believe that one must be very tenacious to finish the marathon.

The criminal acts they committed are detestable.

detestable / hateful / loathsome

good work
thanks,

3/2/2020