

Task 1: Collocations

- After I told him the story, he just stood there completely frozen.
- The bike is rather old, but it is functional and well-preserved.
- The lecture was so deadly boring that some students literally fell asleep.
- Wow, she must be incredibly rich if she can afford that!
- So far their approach has been relatively successful but they should still focus on the details.

Task 2: Adjective Suffixes

- a) alternative
- b) cautious
- c) collapsible
- d) detestable
- e) honorable
- f) laborious
- g) loathsome
- h) hypocritical
- i) philosophical
- j) repellent
- k) tenacious
- l) theatrical
- m) virtuous
- n) voluntary

→ repel → has 2 possible adj possibilities: → repulsive / disgusting / disgusting /

Task 3: Sentences with Adjective Suffixes

- I could not find any alternative solution for 2 j), although the suffix "-ant" is not in the box.
- I am trying my best to be cautious while doing these exercises.
- In case one is not familiar with adjective suffixes, looking them up in a dictionary may turn out to be quite laborious.
- Trying these sentences with the previous exercise is completely voluntary and I am running out of ideas.
- However, this is the last sentence, so whether I would be able to relate all the adjectives to this homework will remain a philosophical question.

good work

Thanks!
