

NJAZ113 HW3

The pedal got stuck halfway, I had to exert some force to make it work. /good collocation/

They got engaged, married and lived happily ever after.

* / I was resistant to stick to their proposal, it didn't seem very reasonable.

The colors got blended in a way, I could not tell them apart. /better 2

* Galileo was alleged of holding the view that the sun does not circle the Earth. /infinitive

She took these two terms and made a new compound word out of them.

Since the first moment I knew I was made for this role.

I'm loath to take their proof as valid.

We employed a new approach, beating the previous one in both speed and efficiency.

I'm in dire need of your company.

nice!

/ = critical
= urgent

allege to do sth
"so alleged to hold the..."

* Register .. resistant (formal language) to stick to (idiomatic language). maybe better: "I was resistant to their proposals..."

 better: how? "... in such a way that I ... "

Good work
Good use of vocab.

Thanks, J -
