

1st task:

- 1) stroked his face ✓
- 2) patted his cheek ✓
- 3) peeled a pencil ✓
- 4) held the point of a pencil ✓
- 5) inserted her finger into her ear ✓
- 6) vibrated ✓
- 7) gave him a fresh copybook ✓
- 8) opened the copybook ✓
- 9) imprinted a vertical line ✓
- 10) folded in the edge ✓
- 11) pressed ✓
- 12) released ✓
- 13) smoothed it out ✓
- 14) twisted the book around ✓
- 15) dipped the pen into the ink ✓

2nd task:

The fact, that the main character died at the end of the movie, took me aback.

The way she looked at him unveiled her affection for him. / not 'unveiled' ... better 'revealed'

We won a stupendous amount of money.

My dog pants a lot in a summer.

Spoilt fruit emits an unpleasant smell.

He was puffing after he ran up the stairs.

I often need to moisten my hands with a hand cream otherwise they'll get very dry.

"It's too cold!", I yelled after dipping my foot into the pool.

His handwriting was so sloppy that it was hard to read.

The art exposition was exquisite, I really enjoyed it.

3rd task:

1) Because hands of an adult are at the same level as eyes of a child and because body language reveals a lot about a person.

2) I think she's old because of the froggy gloss on her tight skin and the way she behaves. I don't think a young teacher would stroke a kid's face. (And she pants.)

3) I think she's a good teacher because how she prepares the copybook for the child. She's also demanding because of part where she searches through her collection of spelling tests.

not "because how"
"but " because of the way that she... "

I agree with most of this, but she 'pants' because she's asthmatic, which has little to do with age —

good work:

Thanks, P —

good.